MEXICAN POLICE SUPPRESS PAPER BY FORCE OF ARMS

Mexican papers received from friends by Miss Latimer, the Governor's private stenographer, show that matters have been laid out and a number of firemen stood ready to play water on the hundreds of assembled negro boys should they attempt to rush the police. A Red Cross automobile also arrived, apparently anticipating trouble.

The scene of the Herald appearing on March 29 has half the front page blank, while a notice in large type tells of the stopping of the Associated Press message.

The same afternoon just as the Spanish edition was almost ready to be sent out on the streets, the secretary of the governor of the federal district appeared and demanded to see the edition before it was published. Following a refusal of this, the assistant chief of police appeared and stated that he was under verbal orders to suppress the edition.

Streets and uniformed police then filled the building and ejected the newsboys who were waiting for the papers. The officers also formed a cordon round the building apparently to prevent any papers leaving. When the paper was finally off the press at 1 o'clock the police detained all those who attempted to leave with papers and confiscated them. A few of the more enterprising kids sneaked away with copies and sold them at fancy prices.

Fire Hose Used. As a reinforcement for the police the fire department was called out and brought an engine to the spot. Two private stenographers, show that matters were laid out and a number of firemen stood ready to play water on the hundreds of assembled negro boys should they attempt to rush the police. A Red Cross automobile also arrived, apparently anticipating trouble.

Rushing to the top story one of the printers threw out great amounts of the edition, which were gathered up by the crowd below, the police joining in and trying to stop them.

The circulation manager was then arrested, a policeman getting on each side of him and twisting his arms behind his back. A task was also made by the police to get the cashier, who was standing by the door, but he managed to escape into the building. Later in the day reporter was arrested, but released during the evening.

Crowd Indignant.

The big crowd that gathered outside became incensed at the treatment of the newspaper men, and it seemed for a time as though a general riot would break out. About 10 o'clock that evening a telephone message was received from the police stating that the members of the staff could leave the building.

According to a statement made by Paul Hudson, president of the company that publishes the two papers, and which is a New York corporation, every step will be taken to have the matter thrashed out to the end.

Fire Hose Used. As a reinforcement for the police the

KAPAHULU CLUB TO ASK FOR ROAD

REV. H. P. JUDD IS PROMOTED

(Continued from Page 1) win to inform him that if he accedes to their request the Club will start on a never-let-up campaign to have the name Road G changed to that of Irwinian avenue. Mr. Irwin has heretofore been very liberal in gifts of land to Kapiolani Park and it is felt by members of the Club that little difficulty will be had in getting his consent to this donation.

The meeting of the Kapahulu Improvement Club yesterday was largely attended and spiritedly enthusiastic throughout. This Club is one of the liveliest of its kind in the city and when it goes after anything it gets it, or something breaks.

Among other things done yesterday a committee was appointed to interview Thos. Hollinger to find what sum, if any, he would ask for a right-of-way for street extension through old Camp McKinley, the former cantonment of the Artillery adjoining the premises of Cecil Brown. After ascertaining what this sum will be the Kapahulu benevolenties intend to go after it and get it.

The Club yesterday opposed the proposed plan of parking Kaiakaua avenue on the ground that thoroughfare is not wide enough to lend itself successfully to such a plan. Members of the club, however, favor the creation of a new parkway boulevard 200 feet wide from the Rapid Transit junction at Pawaa, right across the wet lands toward Diamond Head joining with Campbell avenue at the Kapahulu road, giving a parked speedway 75 feet wide on each side with a 50-foot parkway about a mile long. The low, wet land bounding this proposed boulevard gives an absolutely unimpeded view in either makai or mauka direction, and, according to members of the Club who favor the proposition, this speedway would become the Driveway De Luxe of Greater Honolulu. The Club also favors the abolishment of all speed limitations on the proposed speedway and proposes to let the speed maniacs do their worst upon this parkway entrance to Walkiki via Kapiolani Park. This feature should popularize the scheme with the automobileists, if not with others.

Despite the fact that it was Sunday the Club adjourned with three husky huzzas and a Bengal tiger for its continued activity.

The proceeds of the fair will be used to further the Guild work.

The usual annual story of things supernatural in the vicinity of the Pali is being hashed up by a number of Portuguese cowboys, who describe it this time in connection with a male that was enveloped with peculiar colored flames and then disappeared. Take your rabbit's foot with you if you go to the Pali inside the next two weeks.
